He then returned to his former home near Gettysburg. After living retired several years with health somewhat improved he accepted the pastorate of Zion's charge, near Newburg. WELL KNOWN MAN KILLED BY CAR

John Schwartz, Native of Adams County and Well Known Here, Killed by Trolley Car in Hanover. Adams County Relatives.

John H. Schwartz, of Hanover, well known in the lower end of Adams county, was fatally injured by being struck by a trolley car in Hanover Wednesday morning about 9.15 o'clock. The injured man was picked up in an unconscious condition, placed in the car and at once conveyed to the office of Dr. G. H. Jordy, for treatment. Afterwards he was removed to his home where he died at 11.45 a. m., without having regained consciousness. Death resulted from internal injuries, the man's spine being affected.

Mr. Schwartz was engaged in hauling brick when the fatal accident occurred. Mr. Schwartz, who was very deaf, was seen by the motorman to cross the track, with his back to the car, just as it was upon him. It was too late to stop the car, which struck the drayman in the side, throwing him with force to the ground, rendering him unconscious.

It is supposed that Mr. Schwartz saw the car approaching from a distance and crossed the track to hold his horse, fearing that the animal might scare at the car, and misjudged the distance it was away—not being able to hear the same as it approached him.

Upon examination, the only visible wound was an abrasion of the scalp. There was sufficient evidence, however, in the condition of the man that he had received fatal internal injuries, and his death resulted less than three hours after the accident.

The deceased was aged 56 years, and was a son of Solomon Schwartz, of Schwartz's school house. He was married about 30 years ago to Miss Lucinda Sheely, daughter of Daniel Sheely, of near Littlestown, who survives him, with four daughters—one of whom is Mrs. Charles Anthony, of Littlestown. His father, seven brothers and two sisters also survive. One of the sisters is Mrs. William Myers, of near New Oxford.

At a meeting of the Gettysburg Driving Club held on Wednesday evening it was decided to hold one more matinee before the close of the season. Friday, October 29 was fixed as the date.

The decision to have another afternoon of races was reached only after numerous requests were received. The success of the last matinee and the fact that many horses will be back from the Fall fairs also served to make things look promising for another event and it was therefore determined upon.

The usual classes will appear on the card and present indications point to a very good lot of entries. All entries must be made by Wednesday, October 27 and should be sent to either Ben. W. Kindig, of the Gettysburg Driving Club or Edgar C. Tawney, secretary.

BIG EXPRESS MERGER NEAR

It is Said Four Leading Companies Will Combine.

PRICE OF STOCKS LEAP

Wells-Fargo Shares Make the Amazing Advance of $93.75 Per Share in One Day—Market Value of All Stocks Concerned Increased $40,000,000.

New York, Oct. 21.—A gigantic merger of the four leading express companies, according to a report heard in Wall street, is in the realm of possibility within a short time. Something of this kind is surely forecasted by the recent remarkable market action of the stocks of these four companies, their combined increase in market value within the last few months being more than $40,000,000, which is nearly the par value of the total capital stock of all the companies.

The par value of the capital stocks of the companies follow: Adams, $12,000,000; American, $18,000,000; United States, $10,000,000, and Wells-Fargo, $8,000,000. American stock is up to $25 a share, United States to $104, Adams to $250 a share, and Wells-Fargo to $175 a share.

In one amazing jump of $93.75 a share, Wells-Fargo made the most sensational rise in the stock market since May 9, 1901, when Northern Pacific jumped from around $200 to $1000 a share. Last year this company earned 58.3 per cent, and in the previous year 50.9 per cent on its capital stock. There are no encumbrances in the property, and an enormous reserve has been built up out of earnings. The stock pays 10 per cent dividends, and conservative brokers say that the increase is due to the promise of an early advance in dividend rates.

The rise in the value of the United States company's stock is quoted in the same quarter as due to an increase of 2 per cent in the dividend rate of that company, which puts its property upon a 6 per cent basis. Similar dividend increases have been made by the Adams and American companies.

Within a short time the annual reports of the Adams, the American and the United States companies will be made public, when it will be possible to form some idea why the dividends have been increased at this time. Knowledge that the late E. H. Harriman thought enough of the express company stock to invest more than $1,000,000 in the Platt companies is said to have been a market argument responsible for some of the activity in speculation.

HOW TO WED, YET BE HAPPY

"Make Your Husband Think You're an Angel," Preacher Tells Clubwomen. Chicago, Oct. 21.—"Matrimonial Mishaps and How to Avoid Them," was the text of an address delivered before the Kilo association, a woman's club, by Rev. D. D. Vaughan. Here are some of the epigrams he uttered: "Marriage is the normal state, but it is no longer the necessary state. "Women often marry for a home, for money or because they wish to show some other woman that they can marry that particular man. "Learn to understand your husband—men are transparent. "Pretty women are not in demand; neat girls are. "To hold the love of your husbands keep fooling them. Make them believe you are the angel they supposed you before the wedding ceremony. "Women should love their husbands more than their children or parents; otherwise they will not be ideally happy."

TEN-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLS BIG BLACK BEAR

Follows Bruin Into Underbrush and Fires Two Shots.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 21.—Dorman Long, a ten-year-old boy, of Sweet Valley, near here, while hunting with his father, shot and killed a large black bear under circumstances which would have shaken the nerve of an experienced hunter.

The bear, which was wounded by two charges of light birdshot from the father's shotgun, had run into heavy underbrush, and there the boy, running ahead of his father, bravely followed it and shot it again. It fell and, believing it was dead, he rushed upon it, only to find it springing up and turning upon him, whereupon he gave it the second barrel at the distance of a few feet and killed it.

favor of Mrs. Batonyi. The verdict will have to be confirmed by the judge before a decree will be granted.

This verdict follows upon two years of charge and countercharge between the daughter of Frank Work, the New York millionaire, and Batonyi, who has associated with wealthy horse fanciers since he came to this country in 1899. Mrs. Batonyi sued for divorce on statutory grounds, first alleging at least ten instances of unfaithfulness.

PRESIDENT SEES ROUNDUP

Exhibition on Brother's Ranch Proved to Be a Tame Affair.

Gregory, Tex., Oct. 21.—President Taft saw a cattle roundup on his brother's ranch, Rincorn. It was a tame affair compared with the broncho bucking and steer riding stunts that were pulled off in the west for President Roosevelt's amusement.

There were about 2000 cattle in the herd, and nearby was a flock of sheep and goats of about the same number. There are about 14,000 cattle on the Taft ranch, but the herd that had been brought together for the president was from only one pasture. The president circled the herd and then drew up with his brother and the other members of his party to watch the cowboys. They roped three or four steers and threw them, but it was not as good an exhibition with the lasso as could be seen in any ordinary wild west circus.

BOY TESTIFIES AGAINST MOTHER

Defense in Tracey Murder Case Will be Death From Alcoholism.

York, Pa., Oct. 21.—The defense in the trial of Mrs. Minnie Tracey for the murder of her husband will try to show, it is believed, that the deceased came to his death by heart trouble, superinduced by drinking whisky.

Cyrus Tracey, an intelligent lad of sixteen years, a son of the accused woman, was placed on the stand and testified against his mother.

Dr. David Posey, who was present when Tracey died, testified that death was due to strychnine poisoning. This poison, the prosecution will endeavor to show, was administered by the man's wife.

Throughout the trial the accused woman sat with bowed head and wept most of the time, while her eldest son related the circumstances of the death of his father.

Bulletin No. 82, recently issued from the bureau of entomology of the department of agriculture, contains the results of a series of experiments which have recently been conducted with a view to finding effective methods of fighting the Colorado potato beetle. The information presented is primarily for the truck gardeners living in southeastern Virginia or either side of Chesapeake bay, who annually raise about $8,000,000 worth of early potatoes. Of late serious loss has resulted from the attacks of the mature potato beetles and the grubs or larvae. Heretofore the vines have been dusted in rather slipshod fashion with a mixture of paris green and land plaster, which in many cases, in addition to killing some of the bugs, has materially injured the vines. As a result of its experiments the department suggests that the poison, either in the form of paris green or arsenate of lead, be mixed with a Bordeaux solution and applied with a power sprayer, making possible the spraying of large fields several times during the season. While the bulletin referred to is issued to help a particular group of growers, it might well be in the hands of all who are raising potatoes on a commercial scale.

BIG CUSTOMS SWINDLE BARED

Assistant Weigher Confesses Being Party to Plot.

HAD CHEATED A LONG TIME

Says He Has Been Giving False Figures on Behalf of "Several Dozen" Other Firms For Years—"Was a Case of Honor Among Thieves."

New York, Oct. 21.—In the third day's trial of Antonio and Philip Musica, the cheese importers, in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court, the government closed what Assistant United States Attorney Buckner called "the first chapter" of the prosecution.

The "second chapter" opened with the testimony of George E. Berge, another of the three assistant customs weighers who have turned state's evidence after confessing to the acceptance of bribes from the Musicas for underweighing the firm's consignments of cheese imported from Italy.

Berge, who is only thirty years old, said that he had been an assistant government weigher for eight years, and that he was still employed in that capacity.

He reiterated the statement of Brehm, the former assistant weigher, who had previously testified, that in consideration of his testifying for the government in the present case he had been promised immunity from prosecution and also retention in the government service.

The witness admitted that the figures entered by him in the entry book were taken "from his head," so that they would agree with the figures given to him by the Musicas.

Berge said he had been doing this kind of cheating for the Musica firm for fourteen months, beginning in October, 1906. He added, however, that from a few months after his entry in the government service in 1901 he had been creating the government out of customs duties on behalf of "several dozen" other firms.

"What did you do with money paid to you by the Musicas?" asked counsel for the defendants.

"I put it in my pocket."

"Then you didn't divide with Williams?" asked the lawyer.

Williams is another assistant weigher involved in the case.

"No," answered the witness.

"How did you know Williams wasn't cheating on you or him?"

"I don't know, unless it is because of the code of 'honor among thieves.'"

Names Sugar People.

The witness said that prior to his operations for the Musicas, his work had been almost exclusively in underweighing and cheating on behalf of the "sugar people." He said he had been underweighing sugar for several years.

None of the government's counsel in the case would give any information on the point, nor would they add anything to what the witness had stated.

The American Sugar Refining company has already been convicted in the federal courts here of defrauding the government out of customs duties by means of false weighing on sugar imports.

WOMAN FEARS INSULT

Hears New York Customs Officers Pinch, Poke and Feel.

New York, Oct. 21.—News of the activity of customs officers at this port apparently has been received by Americans abroad in more or less distorted form, judging by a letter received by Mayor McClellan from a woman in Paris and turned over to Collector of the Port William Loeb, Jr. The letter says in part:

"I am in receipt of letters telling of pinching, poking and being personally felt. If any one attempts to insult me in that way I intend to the best of my ability to knock him down and to ask for police protection in so doing."

"There is no other land on this globe in which a decent woman is not perfectly safe. I have been in nearly every country on the globe, and have met with kindness and respect."

Spraying Gives $5000 Apple Crop.
Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 21.—Thirty acres of ground, producing 4500 bushels of apples, which sold at the orchard for $5000, and all this from trees which were absolutely worthless three years ago—that is the record of C. C. Gelwick, of St. Thomas, York township. The transformation was obtained by using a boiled solution of the lime-sulphur-salt wash for spraying the trees.

Morgan Buys Manuscripts.
London, Oct. 21.—J. Pierpont Morgan has bought the original manuscripts of the late George Meredith's novels "Diana of the Crossways," "Lord Ormont and His Aminta" and "The Amazing Marriage," paying therefor the sum of $4000.

Wright Sues Competitor.
New York, Oct. 21.—The Wright brothers applied to the United States district court for an injunction to prevent Ralph Saulnier, the aviator, from using a type of flying machine that the brothers think infringes their patents.

SPURNED GIRL'S REVENGE

Swore Man Ravished Her When He Refused to Marry Her.

Rome, Ga., Oct. 21.—Three weeks ago John Worthington, a well-to-do farmer, was convicted of ravishing Rosa Elrod, the seventeen-year-old daughter of a neighbor, and sentenced to the penitentiary for twenty years. Rosa Elrod was practically the only witness against Worthington. She related in detail the story of the outrage, and the jury at once convicted. Worthington stoutly denied the crime and said there was a plot to ruin him.

Two days ago Rosa Elrod made an affidavit that she had perjured herself. She said she loved Worthington, but he refused to marry her, and she swore he had outraged her for revenge.

Her confession has caused a great sensation and caused so much bitterness against the Elrods that they have left the county.

BURGLARS' RICH HAUL

They Took $2450 Worth of Silk From Newark Store.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 21.—Burglars got away with about $2450 worth of silk and satins from the store of David Klein, at 205 Springfield avenue, and notwithstanding that a wagon or truck of some kind must have been used the police on duty in that vicinity failed to see it and the men made good their escape. In all 3000 yards of stuff was stolen, 2000 of it being taffeta silk, valued at $1200; 500 yards of plain satin, valued at $500, and 500 yards of moreline satin, valued at $750.

SAYS HE WAS HIT WITH CUNCH OF MONEY

Demands $10,000 For Mental Pain and Humiliation.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Emilio Jassell, who claims that Charles C. Glover, president of the Riggs National bank, hit him with a bunch of money, filed suit for $10,000 damages against Mr. Glover. Mr. Jassell was formerly a depositor in the bank. According to his complaint, Mr. Glover, without any reason, picked up a package of money and threw it at Jassell, who avers that he was struck and suffered bodily and mental pain and was humiliated in the presence of other persons and made to suffer great distress of mind and loss of reputation. How much money was in the bundle alleged to have been used as a weapon by Mr. Glover was not disclosed.

MRS. PANKHURST ARRIVES

English Militant Suffragette to Lecture In This Country.

New York, Oct. 21.—No flag-draped tug went down the bay to meet Mrs. Pankhurst, who arrived on the liner Oceanic. Nor did any brass band play "Hail to the Chief" when the ship docked. There was, of course, some cheering, but it all came from the throats of about twenty suffragettes. Mrs. Pankhurst is one of the suffragettes that were thrown into prison in London, and refused to eat until they were released.

Mrs. Pankhurst was escorted to the Woman's University club by a committee headed by Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, where she held a reception and was bombarded with questions. She will lecture in the large cities of the east before returning to England.

Auto Wrecked; Woman Fatally Hurt.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Gertrude M. Hubbard, widow of Gardner Hubbard, the distinguished scientist and founder of the National Geographic society, was injured fatally when the motor car in which she was riding was struck by an electric street car of the Capital Traction company.

Postmaster of Washington Dead.
Washington, Oct. 21.—Benjamin Barnes, postmaster of Washington, died suddenly at the home of his father-in-law, Jacob Frech, where he had lived. Mr. Barnes was stricken just after the meal was completed and died before a physician could reach his side.

College Students Victims of Hookworm

Athens, Ga., Oct. 21.—The prevalence of hookworm among the students of the University of Georgia is causing the faculty alarm, and a campaign has been determined upon to eradicate the little parasite.

MAY BAR OUT FRENCH IMPORTS

President Has Power to Exclude Goods From That Country.

STEP IN A TARIFF WAR

Drastic Retaliation May Follow If France Applies Her Maximum Rates to American Goods.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Drastic measures, including the exclusion of imports from any country unjustly discriminating against this country, might be found necessary by the president in the event that it should be regarded necessary for this country to adopt retaliatory tariff measures against France. While so far this government has received no official information of the intention of France to operate a maximum tariff against this country upon the termination—on Oct. 31—of the commercial agreement, officials here are willing to admit that there is some danger of the two countries, for a time at least, applying their maximum rates against each other.

The exclusion power, which President Taft might find it necessary to invoke during the period until March 31 next, when the maximum tariff law could be brought into operation, is furnished in section 5 of the tariff act of Aug. 30, 1890. This section empowers the president, in case American goods are unjustly discriminated against by any country, absolutely to prohibit by proclamation the importation into the United States from that country of any article he may see fit to name.

The president is also authorized at any time to revoke, modify, terminate or renew any such direction as in his opinion the public interest may require.

The application of the maximum rates provided for in the Payne-Adrich bill to French goods would undoubtedly very materially reduce our imports from that country and the same would be true of France should she apply her maximum rate to American goods. The result, therefore, to both countries would be extremely harmful.

American Goods Hit by France.

As indicating the rate of increase in the duties on the articles included in the trade agreements with France which went into operation on June 1, 1899, should the French maximum rate be applied to our exports to that country, may be given that of canned meats, which would be increased 23.13 per cent; fresh table fruits, from 100 to 300 per cent; manufacturer and prepared pork meats, 100 per cent; lard, 60 per cent; the whole list ranging from 50 to 300 per cent increase.

On our exports of crude petroleum, France, under the agreement, has been assessing a duty of 5.8 cents per gallon, but under her maximum rate crude oil would pay a duty of 14.4 cents per gallon. On the refined product the rate would be proportionately about the same.

Under this agreement, coffee in bean, imported into France from Porto Rico, has paid 12½ cents per pound, but under the French maximum rate the duty will be nearly 23 cents per pound, which is said to be prohibitive.

During the last fiscal year the total imports from France into the United States were $108,387,357, of which about $20,000,000 were free of duty. During the same time the exports of the United States to France amounted to $108,764,262.

ROOSEVELT MEN CLIMB HIGH

Edward Hiller and Edgar Mearns Scale Part of Mt. Kenia, 17,200 Feet High. Naivasha, British East Africa, Oct. 21.—Colonel Roosevelt, accompanied by R. J. Cunningham, the hunter and guide, arrived here. All the members of the hunting expedition are well.

Edward Heller, the zoologist of the party, ascended Mount Kenia to a height of 10,000 feet, or within 300 feet of the timber line. Mr. Heller said that Major Edgar A. Mearns was continuing the ascent, hoping to reach a height of over 15,000 feet. Mount Kenia is an extinct volcano, rising 17,200 feet. Mr. Heller said it was impossible for the climbers to reach the peak.

Sues Chief Wilkie.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 21.—Because he was imprisoned during President Taft's visit here, John Murray, of Chicago, filed suit for $25,000 damages against John E. Wilkie, chief of the United States secret service, and two other detectives. Murray alleges he was jailed on a false charge.

Sends Heresy Charge to Committee.

Johnstown, Oct. 21.—A judicial committee to investigate the heresy charges against Rev. Archibald Black, of New York, was appointed by the New York State Presbyterian synod. Its report will not be made public until it reaches the synod.

No Voting Machines For Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Chicago will have to do without voting machines. The election board announces that the machines under test since Sept. 15 are defective and all bids are rejected.

THE HOUDAN.

If Paris dictates to American girls the style of their headgear, it can't make us chicken fellows believe that the Houdan, "made in France," is the best and only rooster in the world.

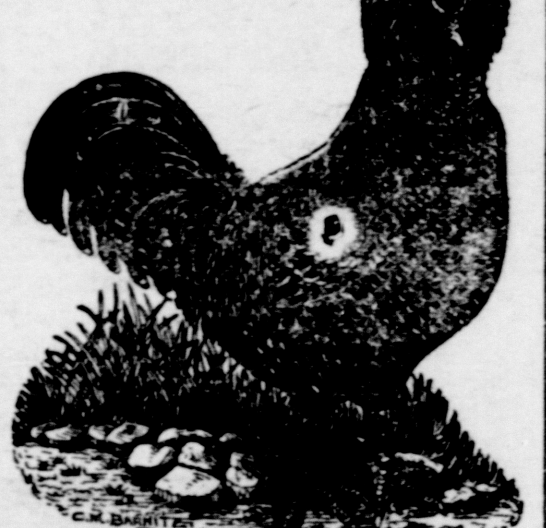

Nope. Too much Plymouth Rock in our makeup for that, not even if the Houdan is the French à la mode, is named after the town where it was hatched and is "ze fine, ze vera fine, bootiful fowl."

John B. Gough, the famous orator, exhibited the first Houdans in this country in 1867, and the pretty breed has many devotees today. It is a compactly built, full breasted, long bodied, short shanked, five toed, white meat bird, and certain fanciers declare these points prove that it is half Dorking and the remainder Polish.

In its checkered career the bird has worn the strawberry, butterfly, antler and V shaped combs, all "made in France" but the last. The butterfly is style in Paris and London today; it may change tomorrow, but American fanciers originated and demand the V.

In color the bird is mostly glossy black, one white tipped feather to every three black, except wing flights, secondaries, sickles and tail coverts, which are edged with white.

Beak is dark horn; face, eyes, comb, wattles red, ear lobes white and the five toes and shanks pinkish white, mottled with black.

The beard should be full, the crest large, globular, undivided, well fitted and balanced on head, falling backward on neck, and of feathers like the hackles.

Its main points are beauty, good size, quick growth, hardy, small enter, easily confined, does not sit, lays early and long, lays large white and very fertile eggs and furnishes much beautiful, juicy white meat with very little waste.

The main objection is to the crest, which, when wet, dries slowly and is apt to cause colds.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

The practice many fanciers have of stating the value of a hen at $10,000 and a rooster at $1,000 is getting very common. Wonder if these amusement makers wouldn't drop if they could get takers.

According to catalogues, the 300 egg hen is almost here. These advertising lists declaring the laying average of pens make very little impression on the thoughtful buyer. Wouldn't some men be awfully in debt if hot air had a value?

We have found planer shavings excellent bedding for brood coops and brooders, but feed should not be thrown into it, as the chick will swallow the shavings and get indigestion.

When a hen digs deep down into her feathers it's a sure sign of lice. In plucking they generally dress the surface.

Dust the roosters often, for, as men have more faults than fair females, so crows have more crawlers than cacklers.

Did Josu Billings ever tell a lie? Perhaps he wrote the following as a satire on some fellow who eggs-agitated about his 250 egg hens:

Somebody stole my old blow hen.
I wish they let her see.
She used to lay
Tew eggs a day,
And Sunday she'd lay three.

Reports in the poultry journals show a trade in live day old chicks that runs up into the millions. We have had calls from all directions for chickens. Parties order from five to ten hundred in a bunch and report few dead on arrival at destination.

Why did hens start to set so late this season? They got a "flareback." Washington is the center of the universe, and that awful snow squall just radiated to every point of the compass.

A warm spring hens sit;
A cold spring, sit, nit.

If Mr. Roosevelt wishes to secure specimens of Barred Rocks and White Wyandottes in Africa he will not have to hunt much.

Extensive shipments of the finest American bred birds are being sent from New York to Cape Town.

Thirty-four years ago poultry judges were licensed, and the whole thing was a fizzle. Recent licensing of judges by the American Poultry association seems to be going the same way. When a school of instruction for judges is organized and no man gets a license without passing a thorough, impartial examination, then the license business will amount to something.

On the 30th of April snow surrounded our brooders and ice formed in the water vessels. We thought of the words of a friend in California. Said he, "I would sooner be poor in California than rich in Pennsylvania." But, say, he didn't move to that state till after the earthquake.

Why I Buy Wooltex Garments

"A further reason and a good one. Economy."

"The style, materials, workmanship, fit—all are good reasons for buying Wooltex. Economy is another 'powerful good' one."

"No woman of judgment wants to waste money on clothes, and those she has must be thoroughly good."

"When the knowing woman buys a suit or coat she always looks for the Wooltex label."

"That is a guarantee that actually means something. It stands as the makers' promise of two full seasons' service—satisfactory service, too."

"If the lining SHOULD wear out, you get a new one. If the skirt SHOULD sag, you get a new one—and no questions asked."

"But—you may be certain the makers are pretty sure of their garments before they put the Wooltex label on them."

Have You Kidney Trouble?

Fill a bottle of common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.
Go to L. M. Buehler and get a 50c box of BLOODINE BLOOD AND KIDNEY TABLETS and if they do not help you L. M. Buehler will give you your money back.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that BLOODINE BLOOD AND KIDNEY TABLETS the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. They correct inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcome that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of BLOODINE BLOOD AND KIDNEY TABLETS is soon realized. They stand the highest for their wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. By mail 50c. The Bloodine Corp., Boston, Mass.

Could some influence be brought to bear to cause a partition of all agricultural land in parcels of a quarter section or more into forty or eighty acre tracts and the working of these areas in as intensive a way as is carried out on like areas in the irrigation districts of the western states a transformation would be brought about in crop yields and financial returns that could hardly be estimated. It goes without saying that the western irrigated tract possesses a marvelous and unimpaird fertility, while in many instances land in older sections of the country has been run down, but notwithstanding this handicap results that might be secured by a careful handling of this same old land would, to say the least, be surprising. The material welfare of coming generations is going to depend upon this more than upon any other single factor.

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA.

They Clog the Pores--Only a Liquid Can Reach the Inner Skin.

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This--the quality of penetrating--probably explains the tremendous success of the only standard liquid eczema cure, oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. After ten years of cure after cure, the world's leading skin specialists have accepted this as the true eczema cure.

We ourselves do not hesitate to recommend D. D. D. Prescription at $1.00 a bottle, but for the benefit of those who have never tried the prescription, we arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special large bottle at 2 cents on a special offer now. This first bottle ought to convince every sufferer, and, at any rate, it will surely take away the itch at once.

THE BURGLAR

The great comedy drama, "The Burglar," which is to be seen at Walter's Theatre, Monday, October 23, is a dramatization of Francis Hodgson Burnett's "Editha's Burglar," a story which was in vogue about the time "Little Lord Fauntleroy" was the craze, and has for its center of interest a precocious and quaint little girl, as the other had a quaint and precocious little boy. The play is full of dramatic situations, with enough humorous by-plays to relieve the tension, and it grows in interest from start to finish, although it is simple in its plot and in its business. The dramatization was made by Augustus Thomas, author of "The Witching Hour," "Arizona," etc., and the character of "Editha" is now being played by little Leonie Flagrah, one the cleverest child actresses on the American stage today.

A VOLCANIC WONDER.

Travelers who have visited the Samoan islands tell of a volcano in active eruption on the island of Savai, which seems to surpass in magnitude of operation any other volcano of historical times. It broke loose four years ago, and from the beginning there has been a continuous and increasing flow of lava, which now comes from a rent in the mountain side in a stream eight miles wide, the volume being placed at 300,000 tons per minute. Already sixty square miles of land have been submerged by molten lava, hills 600 feet high being covered and valleys as deep being filled to the rim. The glare of the molten stream by night, coupled with the clouds of steam which rise as it plunges into the ocean, is said to be one of the most magnificent and awe inspiring sights imaginable.

WHY FARMERS FAIL.

Secret of Success Not in the Business, but in Themselves.

Did you ever think about the number of people that fail not only as farmers, but at everything? Many fall even to make a good living. They plod along in a hard to mouth sort of way and never realize the satisfaction of a successful life.

These people put all the blame on the business instead of upon themselves. They say farming doesn't pay, corn doesn't pay, and wheat doesn't pay, and fine stock breeding doesn't pay. To hear them tell it, nothing pays, and yet we see all over the country farmers here and there who have grown well to do in these lines.

The secret of success must be sought not in the business, but in ourselves. Any business will pay if it has the right sort of man back of it.

No man can succeed without studying success and meeting its conditions. If you are a farmer you must study the business of farming to make much out of it. That does not mean that you are obliged to know all the science of agriculture, though that would help. You must learn how to make every lick count and not lose your time and money in doing work that will not pay.

One of the things that will not pay is to work poor land. It takes just as much time and labor as the working of rich land, but, oh, the difference in results! There is where you come out at the little end of the horn when you work poor land.

Improve your land at once or sell out and buy a smaller piece of good land. There is no sense in working land that brings nothing but nubbins when you can do better. If you can't do better, haul rich dirt from the woods all winter and cover the land with it. It will pay you to do so.

When we think about our business as we should it is not hard to see why we fail and also to see how we could succeed. Too many people don't want to pay the price of success which comes in a close application to business. They don't know that if they once get absorbed in their work and push it with power they will be much happier than it is possible to be by dragging on in the old indolent way. Suppose we turn over a new leaf for one year and see how we come out. By that time we shall probably succeed so well that we will never want to do otherwise.

Buttermilk For Sheep Ticks.

It is claimed that by pouring buttermilk freely along the backs of sheep it will prove a remedy for ticks. If a gallon of kerosene is added to a gallon of buttermilk the remedy will be improved, as the kerosene forms an emulsion with buttermilk and does no harm to the animal. The remedy will cost but little and should be given a trial by way of experiment. It is also claimed that if buttermilk is given a horse it will serve better than any other as a remedy for bots. These remedies were suggested by parties who have tested them.

Marketing Plums.

Plums, early and late varieties, are a profitable fruit. What is true of nearly everything, there is a good deal in the appearance of plums where they are prepared for the market. For local markets, where the fruit is sold from the fruit stands, the common quart berry box is a convenient package. Sometimes the small five pound grape basket with stiff bale seems to please customers. In selling the bulk of the crop to local customers for canning purposes the sixteen quart Jersey peach basket is one of the most satisfactory of all. The eight quart (one peck) basket pleases a good many customers who do not care to buy plums by the half bushel. Where good plums are to be shipped a considerable distance the six basket Georgia peach carrier is found very satisfactory. The high state of perfection to which plums can be brought is shown in the bunch of Merunka plums in the illustration.

Why Melon Vines Die.

Melon vines sometimes die from no apparent cause. Decay begins at the base of the vines, the branches not falling until later. This frequently happens when no indications of insect damage appears. The cause of the dying of the plants may be from the ground being low or from the use of fresh manure in the hills, which creates too much warmth during dry periods.

FATE INTERVENED.

By WILLARD K. FIFEN.
[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

"Well, well, Cuthbert! Who'd ever have expected to see you here? Isn't it funny what meetings there are in this world? Last time we met was at San Francisco. You were going to sail the next morning for Manila. Everything in this world is arranged by fate. But the most singular feature of all is that I've got a message for you. Are you married?"

"No."
"How's that?"
"Fate."
"How has fate kept you from marrying?"

"Chucked in a contemptible incident the evening of the day I parted from you at San Francisco."

"What incident?"
"Come in to the club and I'll tell you."

"When I parted from you that day I went to my quarters, donned evening dress--I never wear a uniform off duty--put on a pair of new patent leather shoes--stiffest things in the world; they might as well be made of cast iron--and went to dine at the quarters of my commanding officer, then Colonel, now General, Chatterton."

"The situation was this: I had been proposed as a husband to Margery Chatterton, the general's daughter, by a skillful matchmaker and had been accepted. When the matter was proposed to me the proposer didn't know that the first moment I saw Miss Chatterton I remarked to myself, 'That's the woman of all others I want for my wife.' You can understand, then, how easy it was for me to be steered into that particular matrimonial hive. The arrangement having been perfected, our mutual friend warned me not to make a botch of it by hurrying, but preface my proposal by a proper amount of courting. Instead of being stayed I should have been hurried, for, while I had found no difficulty when at West Point in making any number of sham proposals, when it came to the real thing I was ready to sojourn with the most backward man in the army. I put the matter off till the dinner I have mentioned came round, when, sitting at table, I was handed a telegraphic order direct from Washington to sail on a ship leaving the next morning for Manila."

"I read the dispatch to the company, and of course it created a flutter in the breast of Miss Chatterton, distinctly visible on her countenance. Here I was ordered away, and the expected proposal had not been made. Mrs. Chatterton, who was dead set for the match, as soon as coffee was served said that if I didn't care to smoke I might join 'the ladies' in the library. I knew very well that by 'the ladies' she meant Margery, and I said that I would join them as soon as I had drunk my coffee."

"I would have left the dining room with them had it not been for the fact that, sitting so long in one position, my feet had become swollen, and the inelastic patent leather had held them as in a vise. I had slipped off the shoe that hurt me most, and when the ladies arose from the table I rose, too, and stood in one shoe. The general and the adjutant, who was of the party, remained, and when the ladies had gone I felt (with my feet) under the table for the missing shoe. I could not find it. While I was trying the general said to his adjutant, 'We must settle Swinton's case before you go,' and to me: 'I trust you'll excuse us, captain. We've got an important matter on hand that we must tackle.'"

"I was mighty glad to excuse them, and as soon as they were gone I got down under the table to hunt for the shoe. While I was there the door opened, and I heard Miss Chatterton exclaim: 'Well, I declare!'"

"I put it to you as a man, could I crawl out from under the table and in one shoe face the girl who was awaiting my proposal? I knew very well that, hearing the men go out, she had come in to sit with me while I sipped my coffee, intending then to guide me to a place where we would be alone together. I lay still as a mouse for a moment, when I heard the dining room door close and knew that I was again alone."

"It was evident to me that I must lose no time in getting my shoe, and Miss Chatterton and give her a satisfactory explanation as to where I had been when she had entered the dining room. But in the first place I couldn't find the shoe, and in the second I couldn't invent an excuse. It occurred to me that if I could get away undetected I would have a whole night to make up a plausible story, return in the morning before sailing, account for my conduct and do the job. A window opened on to the veranda, and--"

"Why in the world didn't you walk right into the presence of the girl and tell her the whole story?"

"Why don't you say something I don't know? I've asked myself that question a million times since."

"Why didn't you go back the next morning?"

"Ship sailed two hours ahead of time. The only thing I've been able to do since has been to let the matter go by default. But how do you know I didn't go back? And what's the message you have for me?"

"Well, at Manila you told the story to Jones of the Eighteenth --, Jones told his wife, his wife told mine, and mine, who is a bosom friend of Miss Chatterton, told her. Miss Chatterton told my wife she'd never marry any man but you. That's the message." "Shake, old man! I'll attend to the matter at once."
